

STORY OF OUR H MEXICO

After three months of border fighting, Mexican regular army of 7,883. President Polk called to arms 50,000 volunteers and series of victories hostilities ended with the Peace of Guadalupe numbered 21,509 regulars and 22,027 volunteers.

...in 1851, now in possession of the New York Historical Society.

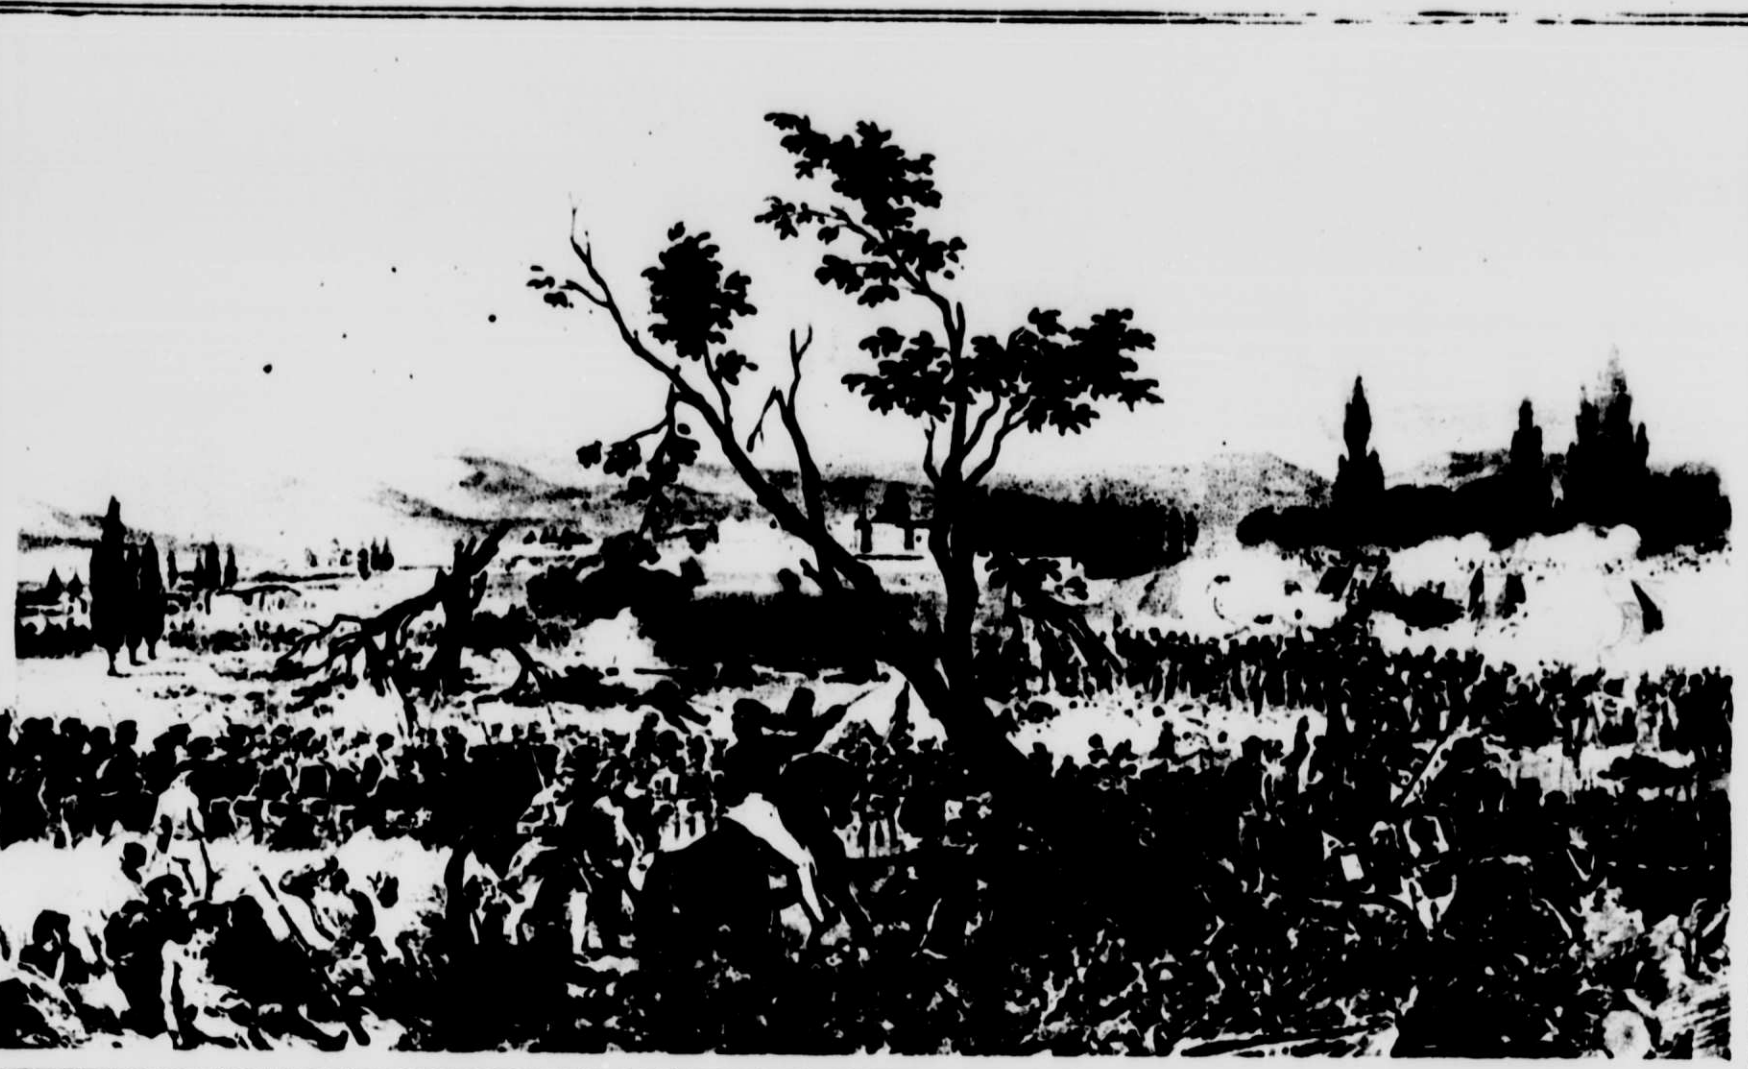

FEB. 22, 1847
Santa Anna with 20,000 Mexicans. The
The Mexican losses totaled fully 2,000.

SEPT. 14, 1847
Mexico city. After a spirited bombardment the position was by General Worth and Smith. On the American side about 7,500 killed, the Mexican losses were much larger.

THE BOMBARDMENT OF VERA CRUZ. MAR. 29, 1847
Having effected a successful landing, Gen. Scott turned his guns on the Castle of San Juan de Ulua, the stronghold of the city. On the fall of the city the march to Mexico city began.

CHURUBUSCO. AUG. 30, 1847
Gen. Scott with 9,000 attacked Santa Anna with 20,000 men in a strongly fortified terre-ne-point. After three hours of fighting the Mexicans fled, leaving fully 3,000 in killed, wounded and prisoners. The American losses were 1,500.

GEN. SCOTT'S ENTRY INTO MEXICO CITY. SEPT. 14, 1847.
This was the culminating triumph of a series of victories beginning at Vera Cruz and extending through Cerro Gordo, Puebla, C treras, Churubusco, Molino del Rey and the Heights of Chapultepec. The campaign had lasted six months.